

HUMAN RIGHTS

AND DEMOCRACY

Human rights is the radical idea that every person is entitled to certain unalienable rights – life, liberty, expression, security, justice, health and more. Human rights cannot exist without democracy, and likewise, democracy cannot exist without human rights.

HUMAN RIGHTS & DEMOCRACY: MINOR IN SOMETHING MAJOR

Learn this rich tradition of political and social thought with a minor in Human Rights and Democracy. Pair this minor with almost any major, and connect your interests to real-world social and political problems.

Our faculty come from all over the university – African American Studies, Anthropology, History, Political Science, Religious Studies, Geosciences, Sociology, Women's, Sexuality and Gender Studies and more!

Learn more about the minor in Human Rights and Democracy as well as study abroad opportunities:

chrd.gsu.edu

Georgia State University | COLLEGE OF
ARTS & SCIENCES